Nahanni National Park Day Tour prices are based on the cost of the aircraft, not per person. If you have a small group Simpson Air will try to have other passengers join the tour to share the costs. Please note there is no guarantee, but we will try our best.

- Canada's National Park day use fee of $33.25 per person applies when touring Nahanni National Park Reserve. Payment can be made on arrival at the falls, at the Nahanni National Park office prior to departure or to Simpson Air (1981) Ltd. who will remit the payment to Nahanni National Park Reserve. The National Parks of Canada Pass does not include the fee for Nahanni National Park since it is a fly-in only park. The National Parks of Canada Pass includes only parks that are accessible by road.
- Day tours are either 6 or 8 hours long – Simpson Air recommends that all customers take a light lunch and water with them on the tour. Simpson Air does not provide any food or drinks.
- Wear appropriate gear for trail walking and suitable clothes for weather conditions. A light jacket may be desired, as the temperature at Virginia Falls is typically a few degrees cooler than at Fort Simpson. Also remember that it's bug season!
- If weather conditions are unfavorable, Simpson Air will not fly. The tour will be postponed until weather conditions improve. If weather conditions the previous day were unfavorable, then the first postponed tour will be first to go when weather conditions improve. Those people scheduled for the current day will go on their tour when the other group returns.
- If the weather does not cooperate while guests are in Fort Simpson and therefore must be cancelled, Simpson Air will refund any deposits and/or prepaid tours.
